Beyond Bitcoin: What Blockchain really means for 21st century lawyers

April 5, 2019, Frankfurt

Jones Day, NEXTOWER, Thurn-und-Taxis-Platz 6

Friday, April 5, 2019 // 9.00 a.m. - 13.00 p.m.

Blockchain Bootcamp

Whereas Bitcoin is often referred to as the “mother of all bubbles”, the technology under the hood is way more than that. In fact, blockchain technology and its multiple applications may be transforming our society rapidly, putting increasing pressure on the legal market to keep pace with technical reality. Though the blockchain technology is still under development, one thing is arguably clear: No aspiring legal professional wants to get stuck in 20th century thinking.

The bootcamp provides you with a comprehensive overview of the blockchain technology and an insight into the legal issues surrounding its application.

In small teams with other Young Professionals you will explore some of the hot legal blockchain issues:

- What is blockchain in legal terms?
- What are smart contracts?
- Smart contracts, do they make lawyers superfluous?
- How to deal with contract law and general terms and conditions on the Blockchain?
- ICOs or STOs, legal means of financing in Germany?

- Cybersecurity and data protection on the Blockchain – squaring the circle?
- Patents and licenses – the hidden time bombs?

The team delivering the most convincing performance will be awarded with a delicious prize!
